

SPROCKET FOR A CHAIN WITH TEETH HAVING A DIFFERENT FLANK PROFILE ON THE SAME SPROCKET

ABSTRACT

A chain sprocket has the flank shapes of successive teeth along the circumference differing from one another. The flank profiles vary according to a precise or randomly determined rule (randomisation). It allows the noise level of the chain to be reduced without affecting the load on said chain.

10001671-103404